

On This Side Of The Sun

By Phat

Well, in the old daily days when it took seven days of slaving a week, I wrote 800 words a day for a column and there wasn't any reference mark above that word daily that said 'except Sunday.' So I guess I can write 800 words, more or less, on Tuesdays and Fridays. . . . Anyway, because so many people said it was too long between Fridays, The Desert Sun is now coming out twice a week.

IDEAS were plentiful up and down Palm Canyon Drive this week. . . . Bill (Back in Five Minutes Fadden, for instance, He plans to install a loud speaker at his place of business and when customers try the door, a record will start playing "Give Me Five Minutes More." . . . Walter Illick also had an idea. "You know, up in Alaska they have a pool on the exact time the ice breaks on the Yukon. Why not a pool here on the day, hour and minute the first snow falls at the upper end of the tramway?" . . . That certainly would be a big one.

THE WEATHER was the most cussed and discussed topic this week in the Village. . . . But, as noted elsewhere in this issue, Palm Springs was six degrees cooler Sunday than Los Angeles. . . . It was humid here but also there so we can laugh at those people who went to the coast to "get out of the heat." . . . They got into it. . . . Kenny DuBose tells me that my idea for a Siesta hour is all wrong. "From the way the weather has been here these past few days, a Siesta Week would be a better idea.

OCTOBER 1, today, is a day of changes in Palm Springs. . . . Airmail is three cents cheaper starting this morning but hair-cuts and shaves are from two-bits to four-bits more. . . . Three of the five local barber shops today put into effect the new scale, one and a half for hair-cuts and an even dollar for shaves. . . . Two shops are going to stick to the old price. . . . Many a Villager, reading in The Sun two weeks ago of the anticipated price hike, said: "Well, I guess my wife can give me a good hair cut." . . . So you may see some weird hair-dos on the men soon.

TRAFFIC on Palm Canyon drive is so thick now days that a person can't even jay-walk in safety. . . . Can remember when I urged a law here against jay-walking and was told by councilmen: "This is a village and jay-walking is a village custom." . . . Palm Springs got into the national magazines this week but unheralded. Studebaker ads in all national mags showed a picture of a nice, shiny new car parked in front of The Plaza. All Villagers recognized the spot.

MUSIC this week has me stymied. Was so busy last week-end didn't get to hear what was on the Hit Parade. . . . Six sheets of new songs came this week. But the handwriting is worse than mine and I can't tell you who they are from. . . . Had them tried out, however, and they're good. . . . I've been playing the old numbers so much haven't really had time to listen to the new ones. . . . A record I'm practically wearing out is a Duke Ellington version of "Chloe" and "Do Nothing Till You Hear From Me." It was presented me by a couple I know only as Al and Peggy. . . . They gave it to me because I liked music. . . . That's Palm Springs.

PARKING still seems the main question here. . . . In some towns I know the city stipulates that when a service station is granted a permit to install driveways, thus eliminating some parking spots, it allow cars to park in the lot, for free. . . . Instead of losing two or three parking places along the curb, the city gains a dozen spots on the lot. . . . And the service station gains, too, for autoists feel as if they have to buy where they park. . . . There's one thing about parking meters. They provide a lot of extra parking places. Too many people would rather walk than pay for parking space.

THE MAIL was lighter this week—maybe because it has only been three days between Suns. . . . A few nice insults and some praise. . . . "Since you are coming out twice weekly now, how about letting Mrs. G take over every Tuesday and you write on Fridays?" came one note. "Then, at least half of it would be good." . . . "Why not bar traffic from Palm Canyon drive altogether? Put a row of white benches back to back down the center white stripe and make the whole street a sidewalk?" asked another. . . . Some imagination. . . . "Happened to look into your apartment the other day. You are strong for a clean-up here. Don't you know that clean-ups, like charity, start at home?" Well, I expect to borrow a broom and dust-pan any day now for the fall round-up.

WELL, this seems to be the end of the line. And I hope you like the idea of coming out twice a week. A lot of you have been asking for it for the past two years. You've got it.

Flyer, Lost Six Months, Found Dead

Coroner's Aide and Deputy Sheriffs Find Body Near Here

Paul A. DuBois Jr., 31, pilot of a civilian plane that took off from the Imperial airport last March 13, for the El Toro air base at Santa Ana, was found dead beside the wreck of his plane in almost inaccessible reaches of upper Palm Canyon Thursday night.

A five-hour trek throughout almost inaccessible brushland and bucktorn jungles to recover the remains of a pilot who went down in his plane last March was reported last night by Deputy Coroner Seymour L. Cash.

CASH LED A CREW of seven men who fought their way, mostly on foot, into the rugged terrain of the desert mountains south of Palm Springs to reach the place where the plane piloted by Paul A. DuBois Jr., 31, of Pleasanton, crashed into the side of a cliff.

Overcast skies kept the temperature from exceeding 100 degrees, Cash said, and the main hardship encountered was not the weather but the difficult climb from a height of 4500 to 7000 feet and then down again to 5500 to reach the scene of the crash.

"It took us three hours to climb only about 1000 yards on an incline on the return trip," Cash said.

The seven, although worn, completed the trip without casualty.

THE CREW, consisting of Cash, Deputy Sheriff Donald Archer of Hemet, Deputy Sheriff L. G. Shockley of Riverside, two Marine Corps representatives, Larry Bandick, guide of San Jacinto and Ben Jones, left about 6 a.m. Friday and reached the scene about 10:30. "We could not take our horses about half the distance," Cash said. The return trip was begun at about 12:30, and the crew reached camp at 5:30 p.m.

Du Bois was flying a civilian plane for delivery when he apparently got off his course and crashed.

He left Imperial airport March 13 and was to meet his Marine companion, Lt. S. Wooley, also one of Cash's crew, at El Toro air base in Santa Ana. Du Bois leaves his wife.

The wreckage of the airplane was discovered by Leo Reihsem and Eugene Wing of Ontario while on a deer hunting trip last week.

Fly to Wed

Two Local Couples Married in Yuma

A flying romance which resulted in the wedding Sunday of two Palm Springs couples was revealed today.

Taking off from the Banning airport with Jesse Combs of the Banning Air Service as pilot, Lt. James Robert McNeal and Irene Foldes and Ward Chamberlain and Helen E. Shook, all of Palm Springs, flew to Yuma where Miss Foldes and Lt. McNeal were married and Miss Shook became the bride of Mr. Chamberlain.

The rites took place at the Yuma wedding chapel with Judge Lutes officiating. Lt. McNeal had to be in San Francisco Monday so they flew back to Banning, came here and then took off for the Bay City.

Nice Work

Bob Phillips Does A Lot of Riding

That motorcycle cop you may have seen coming and going down the highway between here and Banning and then again on the road to Indio and back, isn't a desert mirage.

It's Bob Phillips, motorcycle officer of the local police department who is carefully breaking in the machine delivered to the department last Saturday. When he has amassed 500 miles on the speedometer, the "bike" will be put into active use chasing traffic violators.

THE LATEST—Looks like a big city, doesn't it? It's an aerial view of Palm Springs taken last week by C. W. (Doc) Waughop from a plane piloted by Bruce Dunham. Look at the way the mountains jut into the Village (left center) and the straight stretches of Palm Canyon drive and Indian avenue. And do we have trees? For a desert area, we have plenty as this picture shows. (Doc Waughop Desert Sun Photo.)

Accidental Shot Kills Hunter North of City

Tony D. Brock, 22, of Loma Linda, succumbed late Saturday as result of an accidental gunshot wound while hunting in the Morongo Valley area.

According to information given deputy sheriffs, Brock was unloading luggage from the rear compartment of his automobile when his rifle, loaded, dropped to the road and discharged.

The bullet pierced his lower abdomen.

His father-in-law, Albert A. Hood, rushed him from the Whitewater canyon area to the Community hospital here but he died en route.

THE TRAGEDY occurred in San Bernardino county but the death in Riverside county, so Coroner Ben White was called in to investigate.

The body was taken to Wiefels and Sons mortuary in Banning. Besides his father-in-law, Brock was accompanied on the trip by three 15-year-old youths.

"Wet" Mexicans Try The Taxi This Time

Jose Martinez and Fortino Medina, Mexican aliens, felt that even if they entered this country illegally, the best way to do it would be in grand style and thereby established a questionable precedent for others bent on entering the United States without the blessings of the immigration authorities.

The two "wet" Mexicans having reached Indio without detection, decided in traveling further north, the best and most inconspicuous method of transportation would be to hire a taxicab. With the cab meter clicking every mile of the way, the two Mexicans had traveled as far as the northern limits of Palm Springs, by 3:15 a.m. Monday, comfortably relaxed in the back seat in good imitation of Americans.

At that point, the eagle eyes of Sergeant Stanley Ehler and Bob Phillips, noticed the strange taxicab and stopped it for questioning. That was the end of the ride for the two aliens. At 6:30 a.m. of the same day, the Immigration authorities had them in custody.

Desert Sun Yields To Popular Requests

Yielding to popular request, following many letters, postcards and verbal statements that "it's too long to wait between Fridays," The Desert Sun this week changes to a semi-weekly newspaper.

Hereafter, it will appear on all newsstands and in your home twice weekly instead of just once.

Publication dates will be Tuesdays and Fridays and all of the exclusive news and features heretofore appearing on Fridays, will now appear on both Tuesdays and Fridays. So many of you asked for it—so here it is.

Road Block at Junction Stops Local Autoists

California Highway patrolmen were busy over the weekend checking all automobiles in the search for Albert Anthony Adams, suspected of murdering Steve W. Sodel, Los Angeles motorcycle officer, whose body was found with three bullet holes, September 22.

One "road-block" was in operation on highway 99 near the Palm Springs junction and late Monday were still reported seeking the killer. One report early this week, placed the killer in Hemet and he may still be in this area, according to the authorities.

Hearing Set

License Application To Be Up October 10

City Clerk Louise McCarn was notified Monday by George M. Stout of the state board of equalization that a hearing would be held October 10 at the city council chambers at 10 a.m. on the city's protest against issuance of an on-sale license to Chart, Inc., at the Continental club, 693 South Palm Canyon drive.

At a city council meeting August 23, council protested the issuance of the license as it held the city's quota of liquor licenses was more than filled.

Quake, Storms Hit Southland Over Week-End

Mother Nature was in a cantankerous mood this weekend—earthquake, wind, rain and humidity.

But—the desert, meaning Palm Springs, was six degrees "cooler" than Los Angeles Sunday. The "cooler" is in quotes because it wasn't so cool here, either. But Los Angeles admitted its hottest day of the year Sunday, 98, while here the police thermometer, the local official weather indicator, only got as high as 92. But, oh, that humidity.

AN EARTHQUAKE started off Mother Nature's ill-tempered weekend. The jolt came at 11:15 p.m. Friday night. To some Villagers it was the most severe jolt they had felt in years. It out-did any in that series of 35 quakes felt here two years ago.

Although there was no heavy loss, many minor effects of the tremor were reported. Kenny DuBose reported that many articles had been jolted off shelves in his Village 5 and 10. Only one bottle was broken but the quake entailed a lot of clean-up work.

A FLOODED FLOOR greeted Harry Peale of the Royal Snack Room as he entered his restaurant the next morning. The quake had broken a water pipe and Peale See STORMS, Page 5

Villagers To Pay More on Tax Bills

Villagers will pay from $5.93 to $5.96 per $100 assessed valuation in taxes this year instead of a rate ranging from $5.18 as result of increases for the 1946-47 fiscal year.

Greatest increase was in the county road rate of $2.44 compared to $1.64 last year.

The school rate, including Desert District, high school and junior college, is $2.33 for the new year compared to $2.37 last year.

But, it was pointed out, the actual tax bills will be larger here because of the great increase in assessed valuation.

The total tax bill is based on a $2.44 county rate, $1.00 city rate, $2.33 school rate, 16 cent sanitary district rate, 1 cent cemetery district rate and a 2 cent mosquito abatement district rate.

3 From Village at State High School Sessions

Dr. E. E. Oertel, superintendent of Palm Springs high school, Charles J. Burket, president of the high school board of trustees and Gordon Feekings, clerk, will attend a series of conferences in San Diego this week of state high school officials.

Mr. Burket and Mr. Feekings went to San Diego this morning to attend the meeting of the state convention of high school trustees. Dr. Oertel plans to go to San Diego tonight for the high school superintendents session.

A joint meeting of superintendents and trustees will be held tomorrow at which all three Villagers will be present. The trustees are meeting at the U.S. Grant hotel. The joint meeting will be at Coronado where the high school superintendents will meet.

Mr. Burket and Mr. Feekings will be back Wednesday night but Dr. Oertel will stay over for the superintendents' convention at Coronado Thursday and Friday.

Sensation

Bob Mitchell Choir Pleases Large Throng

Bob Mitchell and his famed Boy's Choir created something of a sensation at the Catholic church Sunday morning, and were honored guests at the Lone Palm where a delicious luncheon was served and the boy-singers used the colorful swimming pool there.

Under the direction of Bob Mitchell who also played the organ in accompaniment, the boys sang the high mass, including "The Proper," a chant.

EVERY AVAILABLE seat in the church was occupied and Father McGann delivered a sermon in honor of St. Michael, the Arch Angel. After the communion, the choir sang Ave Maria. Many who attended the Mass later declared that the songs were beautiful to hear and was definitely a musical treat seldom accorded in Palm Springs.

Following the mass, at the invitation of Mrs. Esther McGee, manager of the Lone Palm, in behalf of Horace Heidt, owner, the entire group of boy singers, See SENSATION, Page 5

Merchants Get Together on Situation

City Will Act Upon Presentation Of Concrete Plans

Parking congestion on Palm Canyon drive, which is again plaguing Villagers and downtown business men, will be solved this season and soon according to prominent citizens and city officials.

However, it was pointed out, the solution of the problem will need the steadfast cooperation of both citizens, the chamber of commerce and all of the downtown business establishments.

A CANVASS of these forces by The Desert Sun resulted in many suggestions which ranged from the installation of parking meters on Palm Canyon drive, a free auto park to the organization of a downtown parking association in which both the city and all business men would be members.

William E. Alworth, city manager, has already conferred with Indian agent Howard Perdew, looking toward the leasing of sufficient space on the reservation, for the construction of a parking lot under a long term lease.

EARL COFFMAN of the Desert Inn, who was one of the leading spirits last year in a vain attempt to solve the parking problem, again reiterated his former offer, that he would assist in a workable plan and would assist in financing such a project.

"If nothing else," declared Coffman, "and although I don't like the idea, I would be for curb parking meters."

He cited several communities along the coast which have installed parking meters and this plan, he said, has considerably improved the parking situation in those towns. On his many trips from his summer residence at Del Mar to Los Angeles and Palm Springs, Coffman said that in the heavily congested district of Laguna, he was always able to find a place to park his automobile.

HARRY HARPER, secretary of the chamber of commerce said that in Riverside, where parking meters are used, one can always find a place to park, and in addition, that city derives an income of $10,000 per month from the meters.

Expressing a personal viewpoint on parking meters, and not as a councilman, John Archibald said they should only be used as a last resort by the city. He added that wherever parking meters were used, no matter how congested the area, he was always able to find a place to park his automobile.

Fred Fulton, of Fulton's Incorporated, operators of a chain of men's and women's wear, was emphatically against the use of parking meters.

"A PARKING LOT with attendants is the only solution," vigorously declared Fulton.

He together with John E. Ballard, manager of Bullock's; Tom Holland, owner-operator of the Palm Springs Department store; Robert McKenzie, manager of Desmonds' and others are of the opinion that a parking lot would more than pay its own way, with the use of parking tickets validation system used by merchants in Los Angeles.

Under that plan, customers parking on these lots would have two hours of free parking if they See PARKING, Page 8

SMITHWHITE MESA
NATURAL BRIDGE

At Inscription House (the Painted Desert Trading Post) we stopped for more detailed information on how to reach the natural bridge in White Mesa that Harry Goldwater had told us about. His directions were to continue on down the main road to Tonalea until we came to a sand-dune, around which the road detours a few yards. On the other side of this dune, we should take the faint cart-tracks to the right, which head directly toward White mesa.

FIND TRACKS

Sure enough, we found the tracks all right and started following them. We had expected a very rough ride. We were wrong. Our route was a very circuitous one, to be sure, weaving in and out across washes and over ridges, but it was quite smooth-riding, almost like pavement after the rough stretch of slick-rock from the Rainbow lodge. Every mile or so we came to a fork, and had to choose.

Twice we had to back-track, having made a wrong choice.

Finally Jack spotted the arch we were seeking, jutting out of the southerly portion of White mesa. We had been looking for it to be either in the center or the northern part. Now to get over it. The selection of roads was a bit easier now that we knew where the bridge was. Finally, 7 miles from the turn-off, we climbed up a big expanse of slick-rock and came to a halt, further progress barred by a steep canyon directly in front of us. However, from this spot, our goal could not be more than a mile distant, if that much.

As we approached closer to it, we noted its structure. The arch of this natural bridge, if you can call it a bridge, was not flat across the top like Rainbow bridge; instead it shot down from the cliff top at a 45 degree angle, resembling a buttress more than anything else. Because of this sharp straight angle that the span makes, the opening under it is nearly a perfect right angle, as if a symmetrical triangle of rock had been knocked out of it. This makes the general shape of the structure unique. The partition of rock jutting out from the parent cliffs and forming the arch was rather thin, about twelve to fifteen feet thick at the highest point, which was about 120 feet above the basal ledge.

In contrast to Rainbow, this bridge was gray chalky white, with bands of dark orange-brown around its base, exactly like the formation from which the Elephants Feet were carved by wind and water. In all probability, the two geological formations are identical, since the feet are less than fifty miles from White mesa.

AMAZING SIGHT

As we climbed up the far side (the southern) of the talus slope to get a picture of the bridge, looking northward, we were amazed to see so many potsherds scattered about the surface. Potsherds are fragments of pottery vessels, made by Indians some 700 years ago. Here in this one spot were literally hundreds, if not thousands, of these pieces of clay ware, of all sizes, shapes, colors, and designs. If we had taken the time to search the small caves and openings which we could see all along the mesa's front, I'm positive we would have found cliff-dwelling ruins and perhaps even complete wares. The mesa is so isolated and so little known, that anything might be hidden there. Someday I'd like to come back and spend several weeks just exploring White mesa.

Chico climbed up into the archway for pictures, having to go around and get up to it from the northern side, since there was a vertical drop of twenty feet from ours, which made an ascent there impossible without ropes.

Pictures taken, we returned to the station wagon, drove back to the main "highway," and were again headed for Monument Valley. It was 4:30 that afternoon when we got into Goulding's.

We remained there for two days, over my birthday. I adopted Chico's philosophy that everyone wastes at least ten years of his life. He tells everyone he's ten years younger than he really is; of course, he looks that young. I can only tell them and watch the dubious expressions. At any rate, one of the cooks baked me a wonderful chocolate cake, which thoughtfulness I appreciated very much.

During our brief stay we went to Olje-to trading post, where Mr. Carson fed us fresh watermelon, the first of the season and the first I'd had in many a month. The movie people had renovated the post a little, removing the Navaho hogan that formerly stood in front of the main building and erecting a hitching post in its place. The roof they had re-

"I Rise to Remark"

By CONGRESSMAN JOHN PHILLIPS

In my last letter to the papers I said I wanted the people to understand what the Wallace controversy meant in terms of the United Nations agreement. The controversy has, in the meantime, been settled temporarily by the President, but the considerations still exist.

For certain of this information, I am indebted to the distinguished junior Senator from California, William F. Knowland. Bill Knowland and I were elected to the State Assembly in Sacramento in 1932. He was a leader then, as he is today. Coming from an even-numbered district, he was elected to the State Senate in 1934, and I, representing an odd-numbered district, was elected Senator in 1936. I served two years with Senator Knowland in that body. He left to acquire valuable practical experience in the publishing business; was drafted in World War II and rose from GI to major by the time the death of the aged and influential Hiram Johnson left the vacancy in the United States Senate to which he was appointed by Governor Warren. Knowland has made an outstanding record, both in committee work and on the floor, and in the councils of his party, as evidence of which I call attention to his appointment, as a very new man in a very old legislative body, to the joint committee of the Senate and House to control atomic energy. Incidentally, I not only have served with him in Sacramento but Washington, but I served in Congress with the very unhappy young man who is Senator Knowland's opponent in the present senate race.

I consider this committee on atomic energy to be unique in its importance to this country. It is the desire of everyone that the beneficial factors of atomic energy should be made available to everyone, everywhere. If it has curative powers; if it can develop useful energy, I do not need to rise now to remark that the nature of an American is such that we would want to share it with the world. The problem is how to control its destructive powers. This is the issue completely ignored by the bumbling Mr. Wallace, whose feet have always been firmly fixed in the clouds.

The question is not whether Russia is involved; it might be any nation, big or little. The atomic bomb is a tiny package of destruction. We made it possible by having the scientists, some of whom were driven from their home countries by the policies of Hitler and Mussolini, by having the industrial know-how, and by having the money and being willing to spend it. There is nothing in knowledge, or industrial activity, that any other country, given time and the desire, could not work out. Time is therefore the factor of safety; time and the strength of the United Nations organization.

The plan would be, under world control of atomic energy, to permit its use for peaceful purposes, under constant supervision and inspection of the International Committee placed in charge, or under control of the United Nations organization. Let us presume a case in which some nation, a small nation if you want, decided it was tired of being supervised and checked. You and I get tired of being supervised and checked and regulated by Washington agencies.

This small nation could notify all international inspectors that they would have to leave the country. It would have that right. It could turn them out on twenty-four hours notice, if it wanted. Under the terms of the United Nations agreement, what could we do; or what could any other nation do? The remedy would be an immediate appeal to the United Nations, and practically, to the Security Council. Here would come the situation I want to emphasize: a single VETO, by any of the larger nations having that veto power, could effectively prevent any action by the United Nations to stop whatever designs the small nation (used as an example) might have in mind. The League of Nations failed to meet the similar issues of its day, in Ethiopia and in China, because of similar restrictions, and World War II was the outcome.

Thus, the world must first work out and strengthen the powers and controls of the United Nations before accepting the proposals of Mr. Wallace and his supporters. This is not for our own safety; it is not selfish; it is for the safety of the world. That is one reason why Mr. Wallace's speech was so confusing to the world, and so damaging to the influence, for peace, of representatives.

The point is not entirely, at the moment, whether you agree with Mr. Byrnes or with Mr. Wallace or with Mr. Truman. One important factor, in the future of world peace, is the attitude and understanding of each nation with whom we have to deal. Mr. Byrnes is officially the Secretary of State, and represents us at the current conference. He is supported by Senator Connally and by Senator Vandenberg. The representatives of other nations simply do not understand a situation in which one representative of this nation presents one policy, and another official, holding responsible position as a Cabinet member, presents another policy. Confusion results; and inevitably a loss of influence for the United States.

If we do not like the policies of Mr. Byrnes our job is to change them here; to argue them here. If we do like them, our job is to support them here. In either case, so long as he remains our spokesman, the job of every American is to present a united front to the world, so that the influence and power of the United States may be used to bring lasting peace out of the present confusion.

Special Commuter Flights to Village Studied by WAL

Growing demand with the season hardly under way for more airline service between Palm Springs and Los Angeles brought forth a statement from Western Airlines that a study of special commuter flights will be made.

The present service to Palm Springs from Los Angeles consists of one flight daily by a 21-passenger plane which also serves points in the adjacent imperial valley.

AIRLINE OFFICIALS say that, while the continuing shortage of planes prevents additional daily flights over the entire route, it is possible that a special round-trip "shuttles" between Los Angeles and the Village can be worked out.

In a special message to The Desert Sun which made inquiry as to the possibility of increased service, Western Airlines said that as the new season gets under way, the airline will closely study daily demands for seats to determine whether special "commuter flights" can be scheduled between Los Angeles and Palm Springs.

LATER, IN 1947, the message continued, as Western Air obtains delivery of 20 new 40-seater ships, the airway link with Palm Springs will be greatly strengthened with the addition of more regular schedules featuring bigger and better luxury liners.

Several hundred air travelers per month are using the local port.

painted to tone it down, and added a sign: Wells Fargo Way Station. All this work for probably one very short sequence in the film, "My Darling, Clementine," showing a stage coach pausing at the way station.

Leaving the valley, we headed north, through Mexican Hat to Bluff and Blanding and beyond to Monticello. From here on we were in new territory. The road from there to Moab, by the beautiful La Sal mountains (which Chico insisted looked like hot-cross buns because of the streaks of snow against their cinnamon-brown summits), was a very scenic one.

MOST COLORFUL

Moab has one of the most colorful settings for any city I have yet seen. It is located right in the midst of towering red sandstone cliffs. The Colorado river flows through the western outskirts of town. In fact, they claim the distinction of having the real Grand Canyon start here, for it is at this point that the Colorado first enters a rock-bound canyon. Nearby are some story-book cattle ranches and only a few miles beyond the town is Arches National monument, an area of grotesque and unusual sandstone erosion, including a score of natural bridges, arches, and windows.

Our stay at Moab was much briefer than we had planned, for a telegram to Jack gave him the bad tidings that his mother was very ill and would have to undergo an operation three days hence. That upset all plans. So Jack drove us back to Monument valley and returned to Moab alone to await further news and to fly home at a moment's notice.

Chico had planned on remaining a couple of weeks more in Monument valley to work as an extra in the film, so I bid him adieu and came on directly home to Ontario. Three weeks later Chico joined me and after he had seen Southern California for the first time, we headed northward

Lt. George Oliver And Family Here For Brief Visit

Lt. George E. Oliver, wife Dorothy and son Douglas, reached Palm Springs this weekend to visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Oliver, before going to his new post at Camp Morro Bay, near San Luis Obispo.

They drove out from Newport News, Va., where he has been stationed in eight days, stopping en route to visit relatives.

Lt. Oliver, formerly connected with the Hotel Oasis here, went into the Army two years ago this month. He was at the Oasis for nine years.

"I've been through Florida, Virginia and a lot of other states but California, particularly Palm Springs, best of all," he said.

MRS. HELEN BREWER BABCOCK, FORMERLY of 1145 San Jacinto way, will not be a Villager for a few weeks. She will remain at present with her sister, Mrs. C. L. Cliff at 410 North Friends avenue. Whittier, friends here learned this week.

to Yosemite in a round-about way. Again we parted, I staying at Yosemite to work in the Park museum there the months of July and August and until mid-September; Chico, continuing on up the coast to Alaska, still in search of the elusive Die Blauze Blume, that mythical blue flower.

Thus ended an eventful summer of traveling about the lesser known portions of Arizona and Utah. What did I learn from the trip, you may ask? Most of what I learned is intangible. I did see and mentally note facts and data which will be invaluable in the future as background material for lectures and discussions. I took some 500 Kodachrome slides which are material proof that the vivid colors were not exaggerated. Then I met people, people like the Bolles who were friendly beyond all measure and like Chico who was my buddy for most of the summer, sharing my misfortunes and elations. No one can evaluate friendship. Also on the trip I got a general over-all picture of a huge area, and a foundation of the geological forces necessary to create such a place.

Next week we resume our regular series of articles for this coming winter season. If you have any comments on the summer series, and would like to have them continued next year, the editor of this newspaper is very much interested in hearing your views. And if you have any special subjects you wish discussed in the future, just drop a line to the Desert Museum, Box 411, Palm Springs, and we will be only too happy to comply.

Nothing To It

Morrison Denies Rumors of Sale

Charley Morrison, new co-owner of Roger's Stables today emphatically denied rumors rampant up and down Palm Canyon drive, that he and his partner had stepped out of the "deal."

Arriving in Palm Springs Saturday at noon, Morrison declared that he and his partner W. E. Smith are very much interested in the operation of Roger's Stables and despite two offers that would have netted them a handsome profit, the dude ranch will be operated this season on a broad and grand scale.

The place will be called "The Stables" and not Roger's stables, Morrison announced. Expected opening is to take place during the latter part of October.

Bicycling Ohrts Visit Village, But by Motor

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Ohrt of cycling fame were in the Village last week—but they came by station wagon instead of by bicycle this time.

They were guests of Bill Walshe at the La Quinta hotel.

They are already planning their seventh annual desert tandem bicycle ride. For the past six seasons, they have made the ride from Beverly Hills to Palm Springs. Last May 7 they established a new record for the 132 miles, doing it in eight hours and ten minutes.

Thief Gets $50, Police Informed

Mrs. Nellie Jefferson, East Arenas road, told police that when she left her home to take lunch to her husband, on a construction job, she left her purse in her home.

When she returned, she said, she found the purse lying on a chair on the front porch and a $50 bill missing.

Fulton Acquires Men's Shop in Santa Barbara

Fred Fulton, president of Fulton's incorporated, announced this past week the acquisition of Raymond's limited, a men's shop in Santa Barbara. This is the latest addition to the chain of Fulton stores, two of which are located here in Palm Springs.

The Santa Barbara store will be managed by Robert Tucker, former manager of Fulton's Men's Shop here. Present plans also include the opening of a smart lady's shop in conjunction with the Santa Barbara store.

The coastal store is located in the new El Presidio plaza building along with other fashionable shops. The style and type of merchandise to be handled there, according to Fulton, will be of the smartest.

Overseas Romance Culminated in S. F. Wedding Ceremony

An overseas romance between Major W. H. Armstrong and Lieutenant-nurse Cathleen Green, both with the Canadian forces, culminated in marriage for the two in San Francisco September 19, according to the groom's sister Mrs. Louis Klug, who also announced that the newly married couple will make their home in Palm Springs.

Armstrong, now out of service, saw action on the European front and on leaves from duty courted nurse Cathleen during the five years both were in the services. Armstrong out of the army, came to Palm Springs in January where he is learning the contracting business with his brother-in-law Fred Klug. He went north early this month, met his fiancée and were married. Both are temporarily living at the Vista Del Chino, which is operated by Mrs. Klug.

The new Mrs. Armstrong hails from Nelson British Columbia and the former Canadian soldier from Toronto. They plan to remain in this country and take out citizenship papers. Armstrong owns property in the Village and hopes to build a home here in the near future.

Parlor for Native
Sons May be Set
Up in Palm Springs

Are you a native son—or a native daughter?

If you are, Leonard Schwacofer, managing editor of the Grizzly Bear magazine, official publication of the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West would like to hear from you.

He was in Palm Springs Saturday in the interests of a possible Native Sons and Daughters parlor here.

Harwood Larson, also of the Grizzly Bear, was with him.

Both plan to return to the Village soon to make a survey of native Californians, eligible to join.

Schwacofer has been delegated by R. D. Power, president of the organization, to survey the field for new parlors.

"And, by the way," said Schwacofer, "the different chapters are called 'parlors' because in the old days they used to meet in the parlors of members."

Suit Trouble

Villager Awaits
Theft Charge Hearing

Palm Springs police arrested Troy Hancock, 21, Sunday evening and clamped him behind bars of the local bastille, on suspicion of having stolen a suit of clothes July 27, belonging to Lonnie Malone Jr., 925 Tamarisk road.

His arrest followed the investigation of a disturbance on Amado road. While there Malone Jr. reported to the police that Hancock, whom they were seeking, was at that very moment in a cocktail lounge. His arrest followed. According to Malone, the theft took place when he allowed Hancock to share his room for one night last July. The following day, during the absence of Malone, Hancock is accused of having returned to the room and appropriated the suit of clothes.

Villager Named on Superior Court Panel

Hiram Benedict of Palm Springs was named in the panel drawn last week in Judge O. K. Morton's court to serve as trial jurors in superior court until Jan 1, 1947.

The new panel was ordered to report in superior court at 10:00 a.m. today.

Doing the Village

with
Moya Henderson

When you see John, the Palmist, sitting under the big Palo Verde on Baristo road, you know the season has started. To many, John's job is the nicest one in town, holding hands all day and getting paid for it.

It's been a little warm to sit out anywhere during the past week.

Many took to the hills over the week-end to catch up on sleep and to cool off. Mrs. Archie Linkletter and Mrs. Bradstreet Miller drove up to Idyllwild on Friday and Roma and Bill Marvin drove up on Thursday to relax and enjoy the mountain atmosphere.

Many summer residents, who had closed their houses and gone down to the desert for the winter, were busy moving in again, if only for a few days. Mr. and Mrs. George Bell drove up Sunday to have dinner with their daughter, Martha Pealer. Martha is still waiting for word from Washington as to when she can join husband, Cal, in Germany. Saw Mike Flavin coming from church services Sunday. Noticed the Reverend John Ables was still at the Manse. The Ables return to Cathedral City this month.

RECEIVED WORD from Julie Martineau this week and was pleasantly surprised to find she is enrolled at my Alma Mater, living in the same house and majoring in the same course. Takes me back about ten years. The Martineaus have sold their Palm Springs home on Tamarisk drive and plan to live in Long Beach. Hear tell that Morris Sale, after enrolling at Redlands University, up and joined the Marines. Ruth and Ken DuBose got out of Palm Springs for the week-end but went from bad to worse. They visited the Jerry DuBoses in El Centro. Harry Reid was in town for a short time last week. He had just returned from a fishing trip with his father, Dr. Henry Reid, in Estes Park.

NOTICED THAT THE OAK TREES are just beginning to turn gold so winter hasn't hit Idyllwild yet. The Harry Williams made the final move to Palm Springs Sunday, having to pause on the hillside for some repairs. Got out my botany book to look up the bright red patches of flowers appearing in the brush to find out they were deer hunters. Read somewhere that next to June, October was the favorite month for weddings. September must run a close third, according to the number of anniversaries celebrated this month. We had Ann and Elmo Purnell's, then Esther and Tex Driscoll, also Phat's and Mrs. G's, and Sunday Billy and Hutch Mosely commemorated

Banning Hawks in 8 to 4 Victory Over P. S. Transfer

It seems that Palm Springs has no softball team capable of taking the Banning Nite Hawks. In several games the latter outfit has played with various member teams of the local league, they have always been the victor.

Another victory was chalked up for them Thursday night, when they took the measure of the Palm Springs Transfer company by a score of 8 to 4.

The game was lost in the fifth inning by three consecutive hits by the Nite Hawks followed by a home run when Sunday Martin came to bat. During this inning the visitors scored 7 runs and 11 men came to bat. In addition one error on the part of the local boys and a free walk off the servings of Frank Prieto was more than enough to score the victory for the Nite Hawks.

Prieto was relieved by Al Crossley who finished the game. Dick McGonigle, first baseman for the Transfer team bought a four base ticket with a home run. The final score at the end of the 7th inning showed the Nite Hawks with 8 runs, ten hits and no errors. The Transfer company team tallied four runs, six hits and two errors.

Batteries for the Nite Hawks were Bill Roth, pitcher and Louie Martin catcher. For the Transfer company, Frank Prieto and Al Crossley, catcher was Don Allen.

Lions Win Over All-Stars by 18 to 12 Edge

Softball league game between the All-Stars and the Lions club last Friday night resulted in a score of 18 to 12 in favor of the latter team.

Although the All-Stars garnered the most hits they lost the game on errors. On the other hand the game on the part of both teams was not up to the par they have shown in the past. Cleveland King pitched for the All-Stars and J. C. Lilly caught. Gus Kettmann, did the twirling for the Lions with Al Gardello acting as his back-stop.

Sad, But True, Local Girls Drop Game to Banning

Last Thursday night the Banning Girls softball team paid a visit to Palm Springs where they engaged a similar feminine ag- girls and the story from now is gregation composed of Village tinged with sadness. The final score in favor of the visitors was 27 to 9 and to top it all off, a $25 war bond offered by Frank Portnoy for the best player went to Martha Partin of Banning.

Miss Partin was credited with one home run, three singles, and scored four runs.

Joe Somers who umpired the game convulsed the crowd of spectators by appearing on the diamond attired in a bra and low cut lady's sun-suit. Following his original introduction as Joe, the announcer quickly changed his name to Miss. Jo Somers when he espied the get-up.

The visiting team played all around the local gals. Nettie Rice, pitcher for the Banning outfit, knocked a home run as did Pauline Peternell, Jo Stewart was behind the plate for this team.

Pitching for the Palm Springs team was Barbara Beeton and Norma Jean Mabrey, catching.

George B. Davies Back for Season

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Davies have returned to the Village after having spent the summer months in Banning, Long Beach and Ojai. and, Mr. Davis says, California is going to gain two more new citizens. His brother, Dr. I. E. Davies, and wife, visited the Villagers for two weeks and on leaving for their home town of Reading, Penn., said that all they were waiting for was a chance to retire and come to Southern California to make their home.

Lions and Transfer Team Tied for Lead In Softball Loop

Just like the Cardinal's and the Brooklyn Dodgers, the Lions club and the L. A. Transfer company team are tied for first place in the league. The Boy's club with four games played to three for the leaders cannot be counted out of the race.

It was pointed out that if the Transfer company should lose the game they are scheduled to play with the Boy's next Friday night, and if the Lions lose to the Grants there would be a three-way tie for first honors.

The league standings are as follows:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Lions	3	0	1.000
Transfer	3	0	1.000
Boy's	3	1	.750
Grant	2	2	.500
Waale	0	4	.000
All-Stars	0	4	.000

Games scheduled to be played next week are: Boy's Club vs. Desert Hot Springs, Monday night; All-Stars against the Waale Camplan Smith, Tuesday night; Lions Club and the Indio All-Stars, Thursday night and the L. A. Transfer Company against the Boy's club next Friday night.

Costly Fire

Lack of Permit
Costs Man $50

Despite repeated warnings by Fire Chief Bill Leonosio that it is necessary to obtain a permit to burn trash, one person last Thursday was cited into court for violating the law.

Before Judge Eugene E. Theriault, the accused person pleaded guilty and was fined $50, twenty-five of which was suspended.

This caused the judge to remark that it doesn't cost anything to obtain a permit but plenty if it is not first obtained.

Horsemen Prepared For Great Jaunt To Start Thursday

Sunday and Monday nights' rain brought jubilation among the members of the Palm Springs Horsemen's Association, scheduled to start a four-day ride into the San Jacinto mountains.

Glee was over the fact that the ride would be a dustless one through the mountains which had become exceptionally dry during the past hot summer months.

Between 60 and 70 association members and their guests are planning to make the ride, which starts September 3 and ends Sunday, September 6. This is the first ride of the newly organized club and it is planned that each year hereafter the Association will sponsor a similar ride covering interesting trail country of the desert and mountains.

INABILITY to locate an old trail over which the ride was scheduled to pass today had compelled the ride committee to slightly alter the route, it was announced by Raymond Cree, president. The first night, Thursday, will be spent at Keen Camp instead of at Lee's ranch as originally planned, the group riding from Bunker's ranch through the Lake Hemet Valley to the site of the famous old resort at Keen Camp which was destroyed by the forest fire of a few years ago. For two days, Saturday and Sunday, Frank Bogert and Barney Hinkle of Palm Springs rode over a wide area of mountain country hunting the "lost" trail but their search was fruitless, and so the change in itinerary was decided upon.

Additional details also were added to the plans for the stop at Idyllwild Friday night after the group rides "over the hump" through Tahquitz Valley and down the Devil's Slide trail. Camp will be pitched on the old Idyllwild golf course, of which Phil Delano of Palm Springs now is a part owner. From there the riders will be taken on a circle tour of the Strawberry Valley and Pine Cove country Saturday morning. Lunch will be served at noon in Saunders' Meadow and the ride that afternoon will take the group to Lee's ranch on the way back to Bunker's ranch Sunday.

TRAV ROGERS, who has taken a leading part in staging of the annual rides from Palm Springs for many years, is directing the serving of food. He reported to the executive committee at a meeting Monday that abundance of good food has been rounded up for the four-day outing. He will send the chuck wagon ahead to each night's camp. Rogers also is in charge of the care and feeding of the horses.

First-class entertainment has been arranged for the trip by Charles Farrell, chairman of this part of the ride.

Rent Control Situation to be Topic Of Special Meeting Tomorrow Afternoon At Fiesta House With C. of C. in Charge

With the status of many hotels, apartments, homes and food establishments in doubt under the two recent rulings covering rent control and restaurant food price adjustments, the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce today scheduled for tomorrow afternoon an important open meeting with hotel association and OPA officials here.

Attending the session, which is to be conducted at 3 p.m., in the Fiesta House at the Desert Inn, will be Ben Koepke, area rent control director from Los Angeles, and William Robinson, manager of the California Hotel Association.

ALL QUESTIONS will be answered by Mr. Koepke concerning the rent decontrol order which removed rent restrictions from winter resort properties, both homes and room or apartment rentals, if the quarters were not rented during the past four months and if they customarily were not rented during the summer months prior to the day rent control became effective here.

To Mr. Robinson will be directed questions relating to the procedure that hotels, restaurants and eating houses must follow to determine the factors for figuring the adjustments of food prices. Recent OPA rulings have permitted food establishments to raise their prices to meet increased food prices. All owners and operators of eating places in Palm Springs are urged by the Chamber of Commerce to bring their questions for discussion by Mr. Robinson as the method of mer months prior to the day rent control became effective here.

All's Well Now

Picture in Sun
Does the Business

Those two canine orphans whose picture appeared on the first page of The Desert Sun last Friday are no longer seeking a home. As a matter of fact, according to Dr. O. B. McRory, operator of the Palm Springs Dog and Cat hospital, the two pups had hundreds of would-be "parents" about one hour after The Desert Sun appeared on newsstands on Palm Canyon drive.

The veterinarian said that one of the dogs was adopted by a resident of Encinitas and the second pup by a local resident, about thirty minutes after the story appeared on the streets.

From that time on until long after office hours, Dr. McRory said the telephone rang incessantly and the hospital was besieged by dog lovers, both young and old.

arriving at the proper factor governing the price adjustment is complex.

PARTICULARLY ARE OWNERS of rental property in Palm Springs urged by the Chamber to meet with Mr. Koepke and discuss the various phases of the rent decontrol order since there is some doubt as to the status of several establishments because of the provision in the decontrol ruling that they must have followed the winter-rental schedule prior to the involving of rent control. Also in need of clarification is the group of properties which have been erected and put into operation since rent control went into effect here.

Though the United States population has gone up only 30 per cent in the last 25 years, the amount of life insurance owned has gone up almost 300 per cent and the number of persons who own life insurance 90 per cent.

MORE ABOUT . . .

Parking . . .

purchased $1.00 worth of merchandise and had their parking tickets validated.

UNDER THIS SYSTEM, according to those who have expressed an opinion favoring it, the parking lot would be self sustaining almost immediately. Ballard added that despite parking facilities which will accommodate 150 automobiles and operated by Bullock's when the new store is completed, support of the validation of parking tickets would be given by his concern.

He said that prior to participation in such a system as used in Los Angeles, investigation of the operation in 100 towns proved that the idea would be financially successful.

Everyone was agreed that parking on Palm Canyon drive, once a parking lot is in operation, would have to be controlled and parking time limitation on Palm Canyon drive rigidly enforced by the police.

City Manager Alworth in speaking about parking meters said that the device would not solve the parking problem in Palm Springs.

"Parking meters would not solve the parking problem," declared Alworth, "because there is not enough parking space along the curb to take care of the parking needed."

He pointed out that the main street of the Village running close to the mountains on one side and the Indian reservation on the other would not allow sufficient space on side street parking to ease the situation.

HE POINTED OUT that the city is not alone financially able to construct and operate a parking lot but that the city with the cooperation of those who would be directly benefitted could put into effect a sound off-street parking system.

"In the first place," Alworth continued, "the business people and others interested should organize, arrive at some feasible plan and then ask the city to co-operate."

One lot or several lots, according to Alworth, could be selected. Then if one or two of the parcels could not be obtained through purchase at a fair price, the city could condemn such parking sites.

ALWORTH CITED the step taken by the merchants of downtown Oakland who, although fearful of paying $225,000 for a parking lot, did so, and were surprised when the proposition and operation paid itself out. They learned, Alworth said, that the cost to them of providing parking space for their customers, was an average of 4 cents per automobile.

"These merchants formed an association composed of 180 merchants and solved their own parking problem," Alworth said. "On a smaller scale, I believe, the merchants of Palm Springs could do the same thing."

WITHOUT ADEQUATE parking facilities in Palm Springs, Coffman said, merchants would be cutting their own economic throats as this town derives considerable revenue from tourist trade.

Everyone contacted by The Desert Sun who is vitally interested in easing the parking situation here is determined that a workable plan shall be found before many weeks of the new season passes.

Official Opening Of Year Today at Community Church

Today marked the opening of the official year for the Community church, Dr. J. R. Macartney, pastor, said.

"From Oct. 1 to June 1, constitutes the year of intense activity for the institution," he said.

"After a summer of skeleton activity in which three services were conducted every Sunday—Bible school and morning and evening services, we go into full production today."

"WORLD WIDE communion will be observed next Sunday at which time all Christian people of all protestant faiths the world around and on shipboard, will have fellowship together around the Lord's table."

"Literally hundreds of millions of believers in Christ will commemorate the love of God as manifest in his great gift to the world through his son, Jesus Christ."

AID FOR THE PASTOR is anticipated this year with the return of the Rev. James Blackstone, recently with the armed forces as chaplain, to the Village.

He will be associated with Dr. Macartney as assistant to bring the church to maximum efficiency.
